FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

I am just starting to learn the religion, where should I start?

We'd recommend you to begin with Baseline modules as they cover the foundational aspects of Islam. Hence, you may consider AY Centres that offer these modules first.

What is the difference on the sets of modules?

The only difference is the arrangement of the modules. Ultimately, all the modules will be covered within the span of 2 years.

How do I register for the ADIL AY programme?

You may go to learnislam.sg and click on your preferred AY Centre to make registration.

Why do different AY Centres arrange their modules differently?

The sets are arranged differently to provide you flexibility and options to pick, especially for AY Centres within the same cluster.

How is ADIL AY different from the Centres that offer single modules?

ADIL AY covers all Baseline and Intermediate in 2 years on a weekly basis. Whereas single modules are short term and will be only offered on an ad-hoc basis.

Can I join the programme midway if I missed the registration in January?

Yes you may do so, but do note that you will miss the earlier sessions. Nevertheless, you may still enrol in the missed modules when an ADIL Centre offers it separately as a modular class.

Can I change AY Centres? Or choose to only attend one module?

Yes you may do so. Please refer to your respective AY Centre for more details.

Are there any refund policies for withdrawals?

No, there are no refund policies for withdrawals as the programme fee is paid monthly and not annually.

How will I be notified of my confirmation?

The AY Centre that you have registered with will notify you on the confirmation.

Will I receive a certificate and further my studies with it?

Participants who complete the whole programme will receive a certificate of completion. It is an endorsement of the completion but cannot be used for furthering of studies.
